

Welcome

This is a research study run by the Department of Economics at the University of Zurich.

This study will take about 60 to 75 minutes to complete. This consists of a base payment of 10 CHF that you will receive with certainty, and a variable payment that depends on your decisions and on luck.

This experiment is anonymous. You will interact with other participants, but you will not be able to link other players' roles and decisions to their identities. Other players and experimenters will also not be able to link your decisions to your identity.

You will receive payment in cash at the end of this study.

By clicking the "next" button below, you consent to participating in this decision making study.

Next